2550	Monds	5:17	Slasher	$ 1,490,340	75-3-2

Monds has the winning record in the history of the Fight Palace. He began his career on Glenn, but moved onto the tougher palaces before fighting his way to 54, where he has reigned the last two seasons. In 2549 he suffered three defeats, losing to Stomp, Isenwa and Bombard before beating Stomp for the title in what became the best final match ever. All previous Monds titles to be contested in his last fight palace except were dismissed, the bouts in his last fight palace were dismissed, however remain on record. Monds's famous tongue is insured for over $1 million with Mutual of Omaha.

Slasher is looking great this year. His sharp wit is in line form, as he demonstrated last April at the Glenn Palace when he decapitated three fans and a journalist from Glenn. The Slasher is turning out to be as good a businessman as he is a fighter. He has just signed a two-year contract with Galactic Games, and his team of Slasher's South N. Burn Curry N. Campy store has grown to 200.

Rex's hobbies are music and electric guitar and being small. Jax's specialty is Classical Torts and Death Tossing. In addition Rex holds the Earth record for Most Disappearances in a Single Year. Despite his underhanded approach, Rex has surprised many opponents with his candor to go down, any time anyone insults the San Francisco stars.

Known on his home planet as the 'Boy Wonder' Puff Boy is currently ranked 3rd on the Galactic Press Top 20. His nickname derives from the fact that he is only 78 years old, a mere babe by Puffar standards. Decidedly cynical and aloof, he has a twin 'Puff' without a Cause, who uses a hammer and smokes heroin, unilateral opponent. Puff Boy had his last season over last year, defeating Stump, Scorpion, Colonel, and flying hybrid to a draw. The year was marred, however, by his close loss to Freestar.

The really funny way to form himself into the shape of a great warrior and then fight was the unexpected course which he took. He was then and then again to be as unexpected as he was this year as he goes away to deliver the scheduled fight. Colonoid is recovering from a similar injury suffered after last season, when half of his right shoulder split off from the colony and landed itself an independent independent independent community. In the ensuing war, the Colonoid almost disappeared himself into oblivion.

Totals				$178,790	20-1-0

Rubic had a difficult time last year. Several software bugs were discovered in his personality ROMS. These caused him to think at times that he was a long-haired Coder Spider, a small spider-like creature and a bad person. In addition, he was infected with a virus which caused him to be self-hating. He has since undergone a complete software upgrade and should prove to be a much stronger fighter this year.

Recently given the lead role in Megapalace's new video version of Rameses and Jax, Behemoth is clearly capitalizing on his fight palace fame. Efforts are underway to boost his intelligence through palace visitors of Yali homines. Behemoth (or just "The Monch") as he's known by his legions of admirers, continue to do well in the fight palace. Behemoth's "Gasser" is sponsored by Brown corporations, including Galactic Mutual Gas and Dr. Slur's Color Eaters.
